About Arcadus™

By design, we build powerful, meaningful Internet solutions for your business.
Our offices are in Midtown, Atlanta, Georgia, USA.

What makes us different?

1. Our focus is your business. By design, the company is built around three core areas of competency: business strategy, creative, and technical. We call that the Trilution™. The central issue at all times remains: How can we help you address your business needs?

2. Development is a partnership. Your solution is developed uniquely for your company. So you're sure the solution fits your business, your staff, your customers.

3. Teamwork is key. By design, we've staffed to create Internet-delivered technology solutions for your business needs. So we have experienced strategists, information architects, software engineers and artists on staff who can address your business communications needs. The synergy of all these specialists, working together in our unique Trilution™, creates superior solutions.

4. Our solutions are user-centric. By keeping the end-user in mind, our applications are both easy to use and compelling. Usability is always on the radar screen so your customers always see your company - and you - in a positive light.

History

Conceived as AtlanticWeb in 1996, our infancy was spent in the ATDC incubator (Advanced Technology Development Center) at Georgia Tech. In 1998, Joe Fuller joined us as President and CEO, merged AtlanticWeb with White Raven Interactive, and moved the company to its present location at Colony Square. The fusion with White Raven brought the company much-needed creative and technical leadership, and the ensuing growth in our capabilities and vision brought a new name: Arcadus.

Why Arcadus?

Because we are more than a web company…much more…and we want our name to reflect that. "Arcadus" means t*he fusion of concept and delivery.* A good concept is only a concept if you can't deliver on it; and a poorly thought-out product is a wasted effort. Arcadus is the realization of a good concept and good delivery.
